IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE WESTERN DISTRICT OF OKLAHOMA

ANTHONY TRUPIA, an individual, Plaintiff,
v.
CITY OF OKLAHOMA CITY, A municipal corporation, et al.,
Defendants.

CIV-2026-2422-R

JURY TRIAL DEMANDED

DEFENDANT CITY OF OKLAHOMA CITY'S MOTION TO DISMISS AND BRIEF IN SUPPORT

COMES NOW Defendant City of Oklahoma City (City), by and through Katie Goff, Assistant Municipal Counselor, who moves this Court to dismiss Plaintiff's Second Amended Complaint against Defendant City pursuant to Rule 12 (B)(6) and Federal Rules of Civil Procedure Rule 8 as set forth in the following brief.

COMES NOW, Defendant City of Oklahoma City (City), by and through Katie Goff, Assistant Municipal Counselor, who moves this Court to dismiss Plaintiff's Second Amended Complaint against Defendant City pursuant to Rule 12 (B)(6) and Federal Rules of Civil Procedure Rule 8 as set forth in the following brief.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

1. City is a political subdivision of the State of Oklahoma and is subject to the Governmental Tort Claims Act. 55 OS § 151 et seq.

2. Plaintiff initiated this action on January 21, 2026, by filing a Complaint against the City and OCWUT, as well as several other City employees and several non-City individuals and companies in the original iteration of this in state court. [Doc. 1-2, p. 1].

3. On March 24, 2026, Plaintiff filed a "Motion for Leave to File First Amended Complaint," and, forgetting to attach the proposed Amended Complaint, filed it separately, immediately afterwards labeling it, "Exhibit A: First Amended Complaint." [Doc. 1-2, p. 6].

4. On March 25, 2026, this court entered an order allowing the Plaintiff to amend his petition/complaint. [Doc. 1-2, p. 6].

immediately afterwards labeling it, "Exhibit A: First Amended Complaint." [Doc. 1-2, p. 6].

4. On March 25, 2026, this court entered an order allowing the Plaintiff to amend his petition/complaint. [Doc. 1-2, p. 6].

5. On April 15, 2026, this Defendant, City , filed a Motion to Dismiss premised on failure to plead compliance with the Governmental Tort Claims Act and the Plaintiff's inability to seek punitive damages against this Defendant. [Doc. 1-2, p. 7].

6. On August 10, 2026, the state court heard this Defendant's Motion to Dismiss and denied it. [Doc. 1-5]. The court also gave Plaintiff twenty (20) days to amend his Complaint, which he did, resulting in this matter being removed to this court. [Doc. 1-1, Doc. 1-5].

7. Related to this Defendant, in what he titled his Second Amended Complaint, Plaintiff repeated several of the allegations from his original complaint: negligence, breach of contract, fraud/misrepresentation, violations of the Open Records Act, and nuisance, and added an allegation of inverse condemnation and several 42 USC §1983 allegations.

8. This lawsuit is defective on its face as it is not well plead, it fails to state a claim, and contains allegations not allowable by law. For these reasons, among others, it must be dismissed as to Defendant City, and frankly, as a whole.

ARGUMENT AND AUTHORITY

I. A MUNICIPALITY CANNOT BE LIABLE FOR INTENTIONAL TORTS.

Concurrent with the filing of this Motion, Defendant OCWUT has also filed a Motion to Dismiss. In that Motion to Dismiss, OCWUT sets forth the same proposition and provides supporting argument therein. In addition to the fraud and misrepresentation alleged against OCWUT, Plaintiff also seemingly alleges assault and battery, false imprisonment and intentional infliction of emotional distress against City. The City hereby adopts as its own and incorporates into its own Motion to Dismiss Defendant OCWUT's proposition and arguments regarding intentional torts. Accordingly, the allegations of fraud, misrepresentation, and provides supporting argument therein. In addition to the fraud and misrepresentation alleged against OCWUT, Plaintiff also seemingly alleges assault and battery, false imprisonment and intentional infliction of emotional distress against City. The City hereby adopts as its own and incorporates into its own Motion to Dismiss Defendant OCWUT's proposition and arguments regarding intentional torts. Accordingly, the allegations of fraud, misrepresentation, assault, battery, false imprisonment, and intentional infliction of emotional distress against this Defendant must be dismissed.

II. AN ALLEGATION OF INVERSE CONDEMNATION BASED ON ALLEGED TORTIOUS ACTS IS IMPROPER AND MUST BE DIMISSED.

In its Motion to Dismiss, OCWUT sets forth the same proposition and provides supporting argument therein. The City hereby adopts as its own and incorporates into its own Motion to Dismiss Defendant OCWUT's proposition and arguments regarding Inverse condemnation. Accordingly, Plaintiff's inverse condemnation claim against City must be dismissed as relief cannot be granted therein.

III. THE COMPLAINT, AS A WHOLE, DOES NOT MEET THE FEDERAL PLEADING STANDARDS.

A. Breach of Contract, Open Records Violations, and the Intentional Torts.

Concurrent with the filing of this Motion, Defendant OCWUT has also filed a Motion to Dismiss. In that Motion to Dismiss, OCWUT sets forth the same proposition and provides supporting argument therein. The City hereby adopts as its own and incorporates into its own Motion to Dismiss Defendant OCWUT's proposition and arguments regarding the pleading issues as to the complaint as a whole, and specifically to the allegations of breach of contract, Open Records Act violations and the intentional torts.

~~B. Civil Rights Allegations~~

The City objects the following related to additional causes of action against it.

In this newest iteration of the Complaint, Plaintiff added what appear to be four civil rights causes of action against the City. Each one fails to meet the federal pleading standards

B. Civil Rights Allegations

In this newest iteration of the Complaint, Plaintiff added what appear to be four civil articulated in OCWUT's motion. Further, following Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. rights causes of action against the City. Each one fails to meet the federal pleading 544, 127 S. Ct. 1955, 167 L. Ed. 2d 929 (2007), the Tenth Circuit affirmed that a Complaint standards articulated in OCWUT's motion. Further, following Bell Atlantic Corp. v. must contain sufficient factual allegations to put a defendant on fair notice of what he or she is

Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 127 S. Ct. 1955, 167 L. Ed. 2d 929 (2007), the Tenth Circuit alleged to have done that constitutes a claim under substantive law. See Ton Services, Inc. v.

affirmed that a Complaint must contain sufficient factual allegations to put a defendant on Qwest Corp., 493 F.3d 1225, 1236 (10th Cir. 2007) (noting that Twombly "articulated a new fair notice of what he or she is alleged to have done that constitutes a claim under 'plausibility' standard under which a Complaint must include 'enough facts to state a claim to substantive law. See Ton Services, Inc. v. Qwest Corp., 493 F.3d 1225, 1236 (10th Cir. relief that is plausible on its face.'"); Ridge at Red Hawk, L.L.C. v. Schneider, 493 F.3d 1174, 2007) (noting that Twombly "articulated a new 'plausibility' standard under which a 1177 (10th Cir. 2007) (noting Twombly's observation that the previous standard of evaluating Complaint must include 'enough facts to state a claim to relief that is plausible on its motions to dismiss in federal court "has earned its retirement"). In actions brought under 42 face.'"); Ridge at Red Hawk, L.L.C. v. Schneider, 493 F.3d 1174, 1177 (10th Cir. 2007) U.S.C. § 1983, such as the present one, liability for damages for a constitutional tort under 42 (noting Twombly's observation that the previous standard of evaluating motions to dismiss U.S.C. § 1983 is personal, so each defendant's conduct must be independently assessed. Wilson in federal court "has earned its retirement"). In actions brought under 42 U.S.C. § 1983, v. Northcutt, 441 F.3d 586, 591 (8th Cir. 2006).

such as the present one, liability for damages for a constitutional tort under 42 U.S.C. § Though the actual allegations and basis are unclear, City can ascertain in the

1983 is personal, so each defendant's conduct must be independently assessed. Wilson v. voluminous text of the Complaint that Counts IX, X, XI, and XII contain the following

Northcutt, 441 F.3d 586, 591 (8th Cir. 2006). allegations premised in §1983: violations of the 4th and 14th Amendment, unreasonable search, excessive use of force, and First Amendment retaliation.

To hold a municipality liable under § 1983 for acts or omissions of its employees, a

Though the actual allegations and basis are unclear, City can ascertain in the plaintiff has the burden to establish (1) the existence of a municipal policy or custom by which voluminous text of the Complaint that Counts IX, X, XI, and XII contain the following a plaintiff was denied a constitutional right, and (2) a direct causal link between the policy or allegations premised in §1983: violations of the 4th and 14th Amendment, unreasonable custom and the injury alleged. See City of Canton v. Harris, 489 U.S. 378, 385 (1989); Monell search, excessive use of force, and First Amendment retaliation. v. Dep't of Soc. Servs. Of City of New York, 436 U.S. 658, 694 (1978); Bryson v. City of Okla.

City, 627 F.3d 784, 788 (10th Cir. 2010).

To hold a municipality liable under § 1983 for acts or omissions of its employees, a plaintiff has the burden to establish (1) the existence of a municipal policy or custom by which a plaintiff was denied a constitutional right; and (2) a direct causal link between the policy or custom and the injury alleged. See City of Canton v. Harris, 489 U.S. 378, 385 (1989); Monell v. Dep't of Soc. Servs. Of City of New York, 436 U.S. 658, 694 (1978); Bryson v. City of Okla. City, 627 F.3d 784, 788 (10th Cir. 2010).

Municipalities are not liable under § 1983 for constitutional violations committed by municipal employees unless those violations result directly from an unconstitutional municipal custom or policy. Schneider v. City of Grand Junction Police Dept., 717 F.3d 760, 769-70 (10th Cir. 2013); Cordova v. Aragon, 569 F.3d 1183, 1193-94 (10th Cir. 2009); Moss v. Kopp, 559 F.3d 1155, 1168 (10th Cir. 2009). The doctrine of respondeat superior liability is not available in actions arising under § 1983. Schneider, 578 F.3d at 770; Cordova, 569 F.3d at 1194; Novitsky v. City of Aurora, 491 F.3d 1244, 1259 (10th Cir. 2007); Montano v. City of Chicago, 535 F.3d 558, 570 (7th Cir. 2008) ("A municipality is not vicariously liable under § 1983 for acts of its employees unless the acts arose out of a policy or custom.").

An official policy that would allow a claim of municipal liability to proceed is a policy, statement, ordinance, regulation, or decision that is officially adopted by the municipal lawmakers. This definition of policy can include a widespread practice that, even if it hasn't been officially adopted or promulgated, is so common and well-settled as to fairly represent a policy of the municipality. Id.

None of the individual causes of action found in Counts IX, X, XI, or XII (Doc. 1, ¶¶159-167) include any specific statement about what the alleged Policy is, rather they all make conclusory unadorned statements and then point to the same paragraph in XII (First Amendment Retaliation) at Doc. 1-1, ¶ 168. That paragraph does not meet the pleading standard for a §1983 cause of action, rather Plaintiff just uses the buzz words of "customs practices, and deliberate indifference" and then states that an incident he alleges occurred on June 6 proves these elements. It is still not clear at all what the City, as a Defendant, allegedly did via policy, practice or custom, to violate Plaintiff's constitutional rights. Simply saying that a policy or custom exists (even if true) does not establish a causal connection between police action and some illusory speculative alleged harm. These are simply unadorned, bold allegations not permitted by federal pleadings standards as articulated thoroughly in Municipalities are not liable under § 1983 for constitutional violations committed by municipal employees unless those violations result directly from an unconstitutional municipal custom or policy. Schneider v. City of Grand Junction Police Dept., 717 F.3d 760, 769-70 (10th Cir. 2013); Cordova v. Aragon, 569 F.3d 1183, 1193-94 (10th Cir. 2009); Moss v. Kopp, 559 F.3d 1155, 1168 (10th Cir. 2009). The doctrine of respondeat superior liability is not available in actions arising under § 1983. Schneider, 578 F.3d at 770; Cordova, 569 F.3d at 1194; Novitsky v. City of Aurora, 491 F.3d 1244, 1259 (10th Cir. 2007); Montano v. City of Chicago, 535 F.3d 558, 570 (7th Cir. 2008) ("A municipality is not vicariously liable under § 1983 for acts of its employees unless the acts arose out of a policy or custom.").

An official policy that would allow a claim of municipal liability to proceed is a policy, statement, ordinance, regulation, or decision that is officially adopted by the municipal lawmakers. This definition of policy can include a widespread practice that, even if it hasn't been officially adopted or promulgated, is so common and well-settled as to fairly represent a policy of the municipality. Id.

None of the individual causes of action found in Counts IX, X, XI, or XII (Doc. 1, ¶¶159-167) include any specific statement about what the alleged Policy is, rather they all make conclusory unadorned statements and then point to the same paragraph in XII (First Amendment Retaliation) at Doc. 1-1, ¶ 168. That paragraph does not meet the pleading standard for a §1983 cause of action, rather Plaintiff just uses the buzz words of "customs practices, and deliberate indifference" and then states that an incident he alleges occurred on June 6 proves these elements. It is still not clear at all what the City, as a Defendant, allegedly did via policy, practice or custom, to violate Plaintiff's constitutional rights. Simply saying that a policy or custom exists (even if true) does not establish a causal connection between police action and some illusory speculative alleged harm. These are simply unadorned, bold allegations not permitted by federal pleadings standards as articulated thoroughly in

1, ¶¶159-167) include any specific statement about what the alleged Policy is, rather they

OCWUT's Motion to Dismiss. Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 129 S. Ct. 1937, 1949, 173 L. authorities and arguments made by OCWUT.

Ed. 2d 868 (2009). Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555, 127 S. Ct. 1955, 167 L.

Regarding negligence at Count I, which he pleads against "all Defendants," Plaintiff

Ed. 2d 929 (2007). Fed. R. Civ. P. 8. Further, neither ¶168 or the individual counts articulate again writes generalized statements and uses buzzwords like "duty" and "breach" but does what exactly the City did versus what each individual John Doe officer (four of whom are not actually articulate plausible statements of breach instead simply references back to the named among the 22 defendants) did. Rather, it lumps them all together and the City cannot prolix that is the first 133 paragraphs of the Complaint stating "the city breached each of ascertain "exactly who is alleged to have done what to whom." Robbins v. DHS, 519 F. 3d these duties as pleaded in Parts One and Two [. . .]. [Doc. 1-1, p. 138-139, ¶¶134-138]. 1242, 1250 (10th Cir. 2008). As such, Plaintiff has failed to state a claim against City on the

As argued clearly by OCWUT in its brief, those paragraphs are everything but a short pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6) and also the entire action should be dismissed as a whole. plain statement. Fed. R. Civ. P. 8. Additionally, ¶138 sets out the "damages" Plaintiff seeks for negligence, but just generally states them without explaining which of the twenty-two

C. Negligence and Nuisance Allegations

Defendants allegedly caused which damages. Defendant City (or any of these Defendants)

Because negligence and nuisance were not specifically addressed under the pleading cannot be expected to respond to every single sentence of all 171+ paragraphs of this standard previously to OCWUT's brief, they will be addressed here, still incorporating the authorities and arguments made by OCWUT.

Complaint. It is prejudicial to expect them to do so.

Regarding nuisance at Count II, Plaintiff named the City and OCWUT along with

Regarding negligence at Count I, which he pleads against "all Defendants," Plaintiff

again writes generalized statements and uses buzzwords like "duty" and "breach" but does not four other defendants but nowhere in the paragraph wherein he alleges nuisance does he actually articulate plausible statements of breach instead simply references back to the prolix distinguish between Defendants, rather he states, "Defendants [. . .] created and maintained that is the first 133 paragraphs of the Complaint stating "the city breached each of these duties a continuing nuisance." [Doc. 1-1, ¶140]. In his damages paragraph related to nuisance, as pleaded in Parts One and Two [. . .]. [Doc 1-1, p. 138-139, ¶ ¶134-138]. As argued clearly he does the same thing he did with negligence: offers a broad statement of damages without by OCWUT in its brief, those paragraphs are everything but a short plain statement. Fed. R.

Civ. P. 8. Additionally, ¶138 alleged to have done "what to whom." Robbins, 519 F. 3d at 1250. alleging exactly who is alleged to have done what to whom. Robbins, 519 F. 3d at

As such, Plaintiff has failed to state a claim against City related to nuisance negligence and generally states them without explaining which of the twenty-two Defendants allegedly caused which damages. Defendant City (or any of these Defendants) cannot be expected to respond to Plaintiff's claims against Defendant City should be dismissed pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P.

every single sentence of all 171+ paragraphs of this Complaint. It is prejudicial to expect them 12(b)(6) and Rule 8 and also the matter should dismissed as a whole.

to do so.

authorities and arguments made by OCWUT.

Regarding nuisance at Count II, Plaintiff named the City and OCWUT along with four other defendants but nowhere in the paragraph wherein he alleges nuisance does he distinguish between Defendants, rather he states, "Defendants [ . . .] created and maintained a continuing nuisance." [Doc. 1-1, ¶140]. In his damages paragraph related to nuisance, he does the same thing he did with negligence: offers a broad statement of damages without alleging "exactly who is alleged to have done what to whom." Robbins 519 F. 3d at 1250. As such, Plaintiff has failed to state a claim against City related to nuisance negligence and Plaintiff's claims against Defendant City should be dismissed pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6) and Rule 8 and also the matter should dismissed as a whole.

Regarding negligence at Count I, which he pleads against "all Defendants," Plaintiff again writes generalized statements and uses buzzwords like "duty" and "breach" but does not actually articulate plausible statements of breach instead simply references back to the prolix that is the first 133 paragraphs of the Complaint stating "the city breached each of these duties as pleaded in Parts One and Two [. . .] [Doc. 1-1, p. 138-139, ¶¶134-138]. As argued clearly by OCWUT in its brief, those paragraphs are everything but a short plain statement. Fed. R. Civ. P 8. Additionally, ¶138 sets out the "damages" Plaintiff seeks for negligence, but just generally states them without explaining which of the twenty-two Defendants allegedly caused which damages. Defendant City (or any of these Defendants) cannot be expected to respond to every single sentence of all 171+ paragraphs of this Complaint. It is prejudicial to expect them to do so.

CONCLUSION

Plaintiff has improperly pleaded inverse condemnation and intentional torts against the City. Further, the remainder of the petition does not comply with the federal pleading standards and must be dismissed. Notably, Plaintiff has failed to properly allege any civil rights cause of action. Not only should the City be dismissed from this action, but it should be dismissed as a whole.

Regarding nuisance at Count II, Plaintiff named the City and OCWUT along with four other defendants but nowhere in the paragraph wherein he alleges nuisance does he distinguish between Defendants, rather he states, "Defendants [ . . .] created and maintained a continuing nuisance." [Doc. 1-1, ¶140]. In his damages paragraph related to nuisance, he does the same thing he did with negligence: offers a broad statement of damages without alleging "exactly who is alleged to have done what to whom." R*obbins* 519 F. 3d at 1250. As such, Plaintiff has failed to state a claim against City related to nuisance negligence and Plaintiff's claims against Defendant City should be dismissed pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6) and Rule 8 and also the matter should dismissed as a whole.

CERTIFICATE OF MAILING

I hereby certify that on the 16th day of September, 2026, I filed the foregoing Motion to Dismiss of Oklahoma City with the Clerk of the Court and served the attached document by US Postal Service on the following who are not registered participants of the Electronic Case Filing. Otherwise, registered participants will receive automatic notice via ECF.

Anthony Trupia
605 SE 21st Street
Oklahoma City, OK 73129
Pro Se Plaintiff

/s/ Katie Goff
Assistant Municipal Counselor

Respectfully submitted,
KENNETH JORDAN
Municipal Counselor
SHERRI KATZ
Litigation Division Head

/s/ Katie Goff
Katie Goff, OBA No. 32402
Assistant Municipal Counselor
200 N. Walker, Suite 400
Oklahoma City, Oklahoma 73102
(405) 297-2451
katie.goff@okc.gov
Attorney for Defendant City

CERTIFICATE OF MAILING

I hereby certify that on the 16th day of September, 2026, I filed the foregoing Motion to Dismiss of Oklahoma City with the Clerk of the Court and served the attached document by US Postal Service on the following who are not registered participants of the Electronic Case Filing. Otherwise, registered participants will receive automatic notice via ECF.

Anthony Trupia
605 SE 21st Street
Oklahoma City, OK 73129
Pro Se Plaintiff

/s/ Katie Goff
Assistant Municipal Counselor