ours p.1 (red) over filed p.1 (blue)

ACCEPTED
05-20-00920-CV
FIFTH COURT OF APPEALS
DALLAS, TEXAS
12/9/2020 10:24 AM
LISA MATZ
CLERK

No. 05-20-00920-CV

Case No.: 05-20-00920-CV

IN THE COURT OF APPEALS
FOR THE FIFTH DISTRICT OF TEXAS
AT DALLAS

In the Fifth Court of Appeals for the State of Texas

IN RE: J.R.

J.R.
Appellant,

IN RE: J.R.

v.

THE STATE OF TEXAS
Appellee.

On Direct Appeal from the trial court in cause numbers JD-20-00313-X, 305th Judicial District Court, the Honorable Cheryl Lee Shannon, presiding.

On Appeal from the 305th Judicial District Court, Dallas County, Texas
Trial Court Cause No. JD-20-00313-X
The Honorable Cheryl Lee Shannon, Presiding

Appellant's Opening Brief

APPELLANT'S OPENING BRIEF

Niles Illich
Rebekah Perlstein
Scott H. Palmer, P.C.
15455 Dallas Parkway
Suite 540
Addison, Texas 75001
Direct: 972-204-5452
Facsimile: 214-922-9900
Email: Niles@scottpalmerlaw.com
Counsel for Appellant

ORAL ARGUMENT REQUESTED.

ACCELERATED APPEAL.

Niles Illich
State Bar No. 24069968
Rebekah Perlstein
State Bar No. 24073080
Scott H. Palmer, P.C.
15455 Dallas Parkway, Suite 540
Addison, Texas 75001
Telephone: 972-204-5452
Email: Niles@scottpalmerlaw.com
Counsel for Appellant

ORAL ARGUMENT REQUESTED
ACCELERATED APPEAL

IDENTITY OF PARTIES, COUNSEL, AND JUDGES

In accord with Rule 38.1 of the Texas Rules of Appellate Procedure, Appellant provides this Court with this complete list of all interested parties.

Trial Court	305th Judicial District Court of Dallas County, Texas
Trial Court Judge	The Honorable Cheryl Lee Shannon
Appellant	J.R.
Trial Attorney for Appellant	Scott H. Palmer State Bar No. 00797196 15455 Dallas Parkway, Suite 540 Addison, Texas 75001
Appellate Counsel for Appellant	Niles Illich State Bar No. 24069969 Rebekah Perlstein State Bar No. 24073080 Scott H. Palmer, P.C. 15455 Dallas Parkway, Suite 540 Addison, Texas 75001
Appellee:	THE STATE OF TEXAS
Appellee	The State of Texas
Trial and Appellate Counsel for Appellee	John Creuzot Diana Herrera State Bar No. 09529800 Dallas County District Attorney's Office 2600 Lone Star Dr. Dallas, Texas 75212-6336

Appellate Counsel:

Niles Illich
TBA: 24069969
Scott H. Palmer, P.C.
15455 Dallas Parkway
Suite 540
Addison, Texas 75001

Rebekah Perlstein
TBA: 24073080
Scott H. Palmer, P.C.
15455 Dallas Parkway
Suite 540
Addison, Texas 75001

Scott H. Palmer
TBA: 00797196
15455 Dallas Parkway
Suite 540
Addison, Texas 75001

Trial/Appellate Counsel:

The State of Texas/Dallas County District Attorney's Office

John Creuzot

Diana Herrera
TBA: 09529800
Dallas County District Attorney's Office
2600 Lone Star Dr.
Dallas, Texas 75212-6336

CITATION TO THE RECORD

The reporter's record is cited to as: [10 RR 23] this hypothetical citation would be to volume 10, page 23. The clerk's record is cited to as: [CR 23] this hypothetical citation would be to page 23 of the one volume clerk's record.

4. TABLE OF CONTENTS

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Identity of Parties, Counsel, and Judges ii
Citation to the Record ii
Table of Contents iii
Index of Authorities iv
Statement of the Case 1
Statement Concerning Oral Argument 1
Issues Presented 1
Statement of Facts Relevant to Issues Presented 2
D. Certification Hearing: The State's Case Focuses on the Charge 2
E. The District Court's Order 3
Summary of the Argument 5
Standard of Review and Law for Juvenile Certification 5
I. Standard of Review 5
II. The Law Related to Waiver of Juvenile Court Jurisdiction 6
Argument 7
First Issue Presented 7
I. Standard of Review 7
II. Law 7
Conclusion and Prayer 10
Certificate of Compliance 11
Certificate of Service 11

TABLE OF CONTENTS

1. IDENTITY OF PARTIES, COUNSEL, AND JUDGES iv
2. CITATION TO THE RECORD iv
3. STATEMENT CONCERNING ORAL ARGUMENT iv
4. TABLE OF CONTENTS v
5. TABLE OF AUTHORITIES vii
6. STATEMENT OF THE CASE 8
7. ISSUES PRESENTED 11
8. STATEMENT OF FACTS RELEVANT TO ISSUES PRESENTED 11
A. Background 11
B. Halloween 2019 13
C. Investigation 15
i. Psychological Evaluation 15
ii. Social Evaluation 15
D. Certification Hearing: The State's Case Focuses on the Charge 17
E. The District Court's Order 19
9. SUMMARY OF THE ARGUMENT 21
10. STANDARD OF REVIEW AND LAW FOR JUVENILE CERTIFICATION 24
I. Standard of Review 24
II. The Law Related to Waiver of juvenile court Jurisdiction 27
11. ARGUMENT 29
FIRST ISSUE PRESENTED 29
I. Standard of Review 29
II. Law 29

5. TABLE OF AUTHORITIES

INDEX OF AUTHORITIES

CASES

Ex parte Davis, 983 S.W.2d 746 (Tex. Crim. App. 1999) 7, 8

Hidalgo v. State,
Nos. 05-16-01341-CR, 05-16-01342-CR, 05-16-01343-CR, 2018 Tex. App. LEXIS 5920, at *8 (Tex. App.—Dallas July 31, 2018, no pet.) 48

In re A.K., No. 02-19-00385-CV, 2020 Tex. App. LEXIS 2801 (Tex. App.—Fort Worth Apr. 2, 2020, no pet.) 8

In re J.G., 495 S.W.3d 354 (Tex. App.—Houston [1st Dist.] 2016, pet. denied) 8

In re J.K., No. 05-19-00966-CV, 2020 Tex. App. LEXIS 1262 (Tex. App.—Dallas Feb. 13, 2020, no pet.) 5

Johnson v. State, 954 S.W.2d 770 (Tex. Crim. App. 1997) 6

Kelly v. United States, 383 U.S. 514 (1966) 6

LMC Complete Automotive, Inc. v. Burke, 229 S.W.3d 469 (Tex. App.—Houston [1st Dist.] 2007, pet. denied) 6

Moon v. State, 410 S.W.3d 366 (Tex. App.—Houston [1st Dist.] 2013), aff'd, 451 S.W.3d 28 (Tex. Crim. App. 2014) 9

Moon v. State, 451 S.W.3d 28 (Tex. Crim. App. 2014) 5, 7, 8, 9

In re K.M.D.,
No. 05-17-01284-CV, 2018 Tex. App. LEXIS 4985, at *8 (Tex. App.—Dallas July 3, 2018, no pet.) 44

In re L.W.,
No. 05-19-00966-CV, 2020 Tex. App. LEXIS 1262, at *27-28 (Tex. App.—Dallas Feb. 13, 2020, no pet.) 26, 41, 42, 44

Johnson v. State,
954 S.W.2d 770, 771 (Tex. Crim. App. 1997) 27, 61

Kelly v. Brown,
851 F.3d 686, 688-89 (7th Cir. 2017) 48, 59

STATUTES

Tex. Fam. Code § 54.02(a) 8, 9

Tex. Fam. Code § 54.02(d) 9

Tex. Fam. Code § 54.02(f) 7, 8

Tex. Fam. Code § 54.02(h) 1, 4, 7, 8, 10

Tex. Penal Code § 19.02(c) 1

Johnson v. State,
975 S.W.2d 644, 649 (Tex. App.—El Paso 1998, pet. ref'd) 61

7. ISSUES PRESENTED

Appellant presents two issues for appeal.

Issue One: Section 54.02(h) and Moon require a juvenile court to specifically explain the facts that underly a decision to certify a juvenile. This requirement demands that a juvenile court show that the court engaged in a deliberative effort and made a reasoned decision. Here, the trial court's order failed to include any mention of J.R.'s low intellect, his mental disorders, his Autism Spectrum Disorder, his Bipolar Disorder, or his exceptional conduct when in juvenile custody resulting in placement in the Honors dorm. Did the trial court honor § 54.02(h) and Moon?

Issue Two: In his second issue, Appellant contends that the evidence is factually insufficient to find that Appellant was sufficiently sophisticated and mature to certify him as an adult. Specifically the overwhelming preponderance of the evidence showed that Appellant was unsophisticated and immature. Did the trial court err in finding that Appellant was mature and sophisticated and belongs in the adult criminal system to face a charge for Murder?

8. STATEMENT OF FACTS RELEVANT TO ISSUES PRESENTED

A. Background

J.R. was born on September 1, 2003. [CR 34]. J.R. and his younger sister split time living with their mother, Theresa, and their maternal grandparents. [CR 45]. J.R. maintains a relationship with his father, Shaun. [CR 47].

To the Honorable Justices of the Fifth Court of Appeals:

J.R., Appellant, presents this opening brief.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

The State of Texas charged Appellant, a juvenile, with Murder. Tex. Penal Code § 19.02(c). [CR 6]. The State filed its first petition for discretionary transfer on March 5, 2020. [CR 13]. The State filed a second petition for discretionary transfer on March 24, 2020. [CR 25]. The juvenile court held a certification hearing on October 5, 2020. [CR 11]. The Court certified Appellant. [CR 92]. The case was transferred to the adult system. [CR 96]. This accelerated appeal follows. [CR 106].

STATEMENT CONCERNING ORAL ARGUMENT

Appellant requests oral argument, but Appellant recognizes that this is an accelerated appeal, and that oral argument may not be feasible.

ISSUES PRESENTED

Appellant presents two issues for appeal.

Issue One: Section 54.02(h) and Moon require a juvenile court to specifically explain the facts that underly a decision to certify a juvenile. This requirement demands that a juvenile court show that the court engaged in a deliberative effort and made a reasoned decision. Here, the trial court's order failed to include any mention of [the appellant's intellectual, medical, and conduct history, omitted from this transcription]. Did the trial court honor § 54.02(h) and Moon?

Issue Two: In his second issue, Appellant contends that the evidence is factually insufficient to find that Appellant was sufficiently sophisticated and mature to certify him as an adult. Specifically the overwhelming preponderance of the evidence showed that Appellant was unsophisticated and immature. Did the trial court err in finding that Appellant was mature

STATEMENT OF FACTS RELEVANT TO ISSUES PRESENTED

[Parts A through C of the filed statement of facts (the appellant's background, the offense, and the investigation) describe a minor and are omitted from this transcription.]

D. Certification Hearing: The State's Case Focuses on the Charge

J.R. was sixteen-years old at the time of the offense. [RR 37]. A petition was filed for the offense of Murder in juvenile court and the State sought to certify J.R. as an adult. [CR 6-14]. During the hearing, the evidence could not link any one person (and certainly not J.R.) to the gun. [RR 54]. It was clear that no one intended for [the complainant] to be shot. [RR 77]. [The testimony of juvenile probation about the appellant's diagnoses is omitted from this transcription.] [RR 103-104].

After the evaluations were completed, J.R. matched with a placement, Medlock. [RR 103]. Medlock was willing to accept J.R. and provide services that would meet his needs. [RR 103]. Ms. Wright did not know whether an adult prison could provide for Gloria Roque to be shot. [RR 77]. And, Shannon Wright, from juvenile services to J.R., but she did testify that J.R. would be at risk in an adult prison. [RR 105; probation, testified that J.R.'s diagnoses of Bipolar and Autism Spectrum Disorder 106]. No other witness testified about the mental-health services available in adult were not known to probation prior to this offense. [RR 103-104].

prisons. Ms. Wright testified that there would be no danger to the community if J.R.

After the evaluations were completed, J.R. matched with a placement, were sentenced to the Texas Juvenile Justice Department (TJJD). [RR 110]. She also Medlock. [RR 103]. Medlock was willing to accept J.R. and provide services that testified that all the recommendations from the psychological assessment could be and sophisticated and belongs in the adult criminal system to face a charge for Murder?

The First Addendum to the Social Evaluation indicated that on July 8, 2020 that the Lyle B. Medlock Residential Treatment Center agreed to house J.R. [CR 59]. The Lyle B. Medlock Residential Treatment Center is a residential setting that provides juvenile services in a safe and secure environment. As a resident in this program, J.R. would attend the Dallas County Juvenile Justice Charter School. Outside of school hours, activities include individual, group and family counseling, substance abuse education, recreational activities, spiritual support and life-skills training in a cooperative learning format. [CR 59].

The Second Addendum explained that "[t]he subject continues to maintain Honor status without any infractions to note." [CR 79].

D. Certification Hearing: The State's Case Focuses on the Charge

J.R. was sixteen-years old at the time of the offense. [RR 37]. A petition was filed for the offense of Murder in juvenile court and the State sought to certify J.R. as an adult. [CR 6-14]. During the hearing, the evidence could not link any one person (and certainly not J.R.) to the gun. [RR 54]. It was clear that no one intended for Gloria Roque to be shot. [RR 77]. And, Shannon Wright, from juvenile probation, testified that J.R.'s diagnoses of Bipolar and Autism Spectrum Disorder were not known to probation prior to this offense. [RR 103-104].

After the evaluations were completed, J.R. matched with a placement, Medlock. [RR 103]. Medlock was willing to accept J.R. and provide services that would meet his needs. [RR 103]. Ms. Wright did not know whether an adult prison could provide for J.R., but she did testify that J.R. would be at risk in an adult prison. [RR 105; 106]. No other witness testified about the mental-health services available in adult prisons. Ms. Wright testified that there would be no danger to the community if J.R. were sentenced to the Texas Juvenile Justice Department (TJJD). [RR 110]. She also testified that all the recommendations from the psychological assessment could be be transferred to adult prison or released on parole. [RR 119-120]. There is nothing that prevents the juvenile court from sentencing J.R. to up to forty years while in the juvenile system. [RR 129].

E. The District Court's Order

The juvenile court made rote findings that followed the standard for certification. [CR 96-99]. The laborious findings read:

> The Court entered a Waiver of Jurisdiction and Order of Transfer to a Criminal District Court on October 7, 2020. [CR 96].
>
> The reasons for this disposition are that: The Respondent is charged with Violating penal law of the grade of felony; the Respondent was fourteen (14) years old or older at the time he is alleged to have committed the offense; no adjudication hearing has been conducted concerning this alleged offense; the prospects of adequate protection of the public and the likelihood of rehabilitation of the child by use of procedures, services and facilities currently available to the juvenile court is remote; and it is desirable that all parties to the offense be tried in one court since the accomplices are adults.
>
> The Respondent is charged with Violating penal law of the grade of felony; the Respondent was fourteen (14) years old or older at the time he is alleged to have committed the offense; no adjudication hearing has been conducted concerning this alleged offense; the Respondent's conduct was willful and Violent; a deadly weapon, to wit: a firearm, was used during the course of the offense; personal injury and death resulted to the victim, Gloria Roque; the offense was so serious that transfer to a District Court with criminal jurisdiction must be granted; the Respondent has not accepted or responded to supervision; the Respondent refuses to remain away from associates in the community who habitually violate the law; the sophistication of the child is excessive for his age; and his level of maturity is sufficient; the background of the Respondent indicates that the welfare of the community requires criminal prosecution; the previous history of the Respondent indicates a present need for placement of the child in a controlled, structured facility; the public

Appellant timely filed his notice of appeal and this appeal follows. [CR 106].

SUMMARY OF THE ARGUMENT

The easiest resolution to this appeal is to recognize that the State charged J.R. with Murder and knowledge that he committed the [illegible] finds that he should be tried as an adult. But § 54.02 of the Family Code prevents this sort of easy resolution. Instead, § 54.02 requires a juvenile court to conduct an individualized and meaningful investigation into juvenile defendants' [illegible] and

SUMMARY OF THE ARGUMENT

The easiest resolution to this appeal is to recognize that the State charged J.R. with Murder, to acknowledge that he committed a prior robbery, and to find that he should be tried as an adult. But § 54.02 of the Family Code prevents this sort of easy resolution. Instead, § 54.02 requires a juvenile court to conduct an individualized and meaningful investigation into a juvenile before certifying him or her as an adult. And the caselaw specifically prohibits using only the alleged offense as a basis to certify. Strong evidence of this prohibition on the charge being determinative of certification is the fact that TJJD has a special unit for capital offenders. [2 RR 120]. If a capital offense automatically justified transfer, then there would be no need for a special unit within TJJD for capital offenders.

The Court of Criminal Appeals' opinion in Moon was transformative. It required, among other things, for a juvenile court to set out its deliberative process in a written order (§ 54.02(h) order) when the juvenile court has decided to certify a juvenile as an adult. Further, Moon limited a sufficiency review to the facts set out in the § 54.02(h) order. In requiring the juvenile court to set out its deliberative process and then limiting a sufficiency review to that order, Moon required the § 54.02(h) order to include deliberation on the evidence that supported and weighed against certification. Here the § 54.02(h) order includes none of the evidence related to [the mitigating evidence listed in the filed brief, omitted from this transcription].

Instead, the § 54.02(h) order contained a rote iteration of J.R.'s bad acts. In failing to include the Court's deliberative process on the evidence that weighed against certification, the Court failed to honor § 54.02(h) or Moon.

STANDARD OF REVIEW AND LAW FOR JUVENILE CERTIFICATION

STANDARD OF REVIEW AND LAW FOR JUVENILE CERTIFICATION

The standard of review for Appellant's two issues is identical. To avoid unnecessary repetition, Appellant provides one standard of review that applies to all of his issues.

I. Standard of Review

I. Standard of Review

This Court recently explained the standard of review, writing:

> Our review of a transfer order is two-pronged. First, we review the juvenile court's specific findings of fact concerning the section 54.02(f) factors under a 'traditional sufficiency of the evidence review.' Moon, 451 S.W.3d at 47. When reviewing the legal sufficiency of the evidence, we credit evidence favorable to the challenged finding and disregard contrary evidence unless a reasonable fact finder could not reject the evidence. If there is more than a scintilla of evidence that supports the finding, then the proof is legally sufficient and the challenge fails. Id. When reviewing the factual sufficiency of the evidence, we consider all of the evidence presented to determine if the juvenile court's findings are so against the great weight and preponderance of the proof as to be clearly wrong and unjust. Id. But our review of the sufficiency of the evidence supporting waiver is limited to the facts the juvenile court expressly relied on in its transfer order. Moon, 451 S.W.3d at 50; In the Matter of S.G.R., 496 S.W.3d at 239.
>
> Second, we review the juvenile court's ultimate waiver decision for an abuse of discretion. In the Matter of S.G.R., 496 S.W.3d at 239 (citing Moon, 451 S.W.3d at 47). A juvenile court abuses its discretion when its decision to transfer is essentially arbitrary, given the evidence upon which it was based. Moon, 451 S.W.3d at 47. 'As with any decision that lies within the discretion of the trial court, the salient question is not jurisdiction is a "critically important" action determining vitally important statutory rights of the juvenile." The Court characterized the "decision as to waiver of jurisdiction and transfer of the matter to the District Court [as] potentially as important to petitioner as the difference between five years imprisonment and a death sentence." Id. at 557. The very act of a transfer to a criminal district court carries with it the deprivation of the right to be detained in the protective environment of the Juvenile Justice Center pending trial, and after trial once convicted, and the rehabilitative and educational programs that would be available under the Family Code if the proceeding were in a juvenile court.

In re L.W., No. 05-19-00966-CV, 2020 Tex. App. LEXIS 1262, at *27-28 (Tex. App.—Dallas Feb. 13, 2020, no pet.).[1]

[1]Lexis and Westlaw paginate unpublished opinions differently. Appellant uses the pagination from Lexis.

A court also commits an abuse of discretion if it makes findings of fact supported by legally or factually insufficient evidence. LMC Complete Automotive, Inc. v. Burke, 229 S.W.3d 469, 483 (Tex. App.—Houston [1st Dist.] 2007, pet. denied). Where, as here, a court's decision necessarily involves the balancing of multiple factors "[r]eview of these individual factors necessarily involves fact determinations and legal conclusions. The balancing test as a whole, however, is a purely legal question. Legal questions are reviewed de novo." Johnson v. State, 954 S.W.2d 770, 771 (Tex. Crim. App. 1997). Reversal is required if the court below engages in a flawed analysis of any one of the balancing factors. Id.

II. The Law Related to Waiver of Juvenile Court Jurisdiction

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals echoed Kent, stating: "transfer to criminal district court for adult prosecution is 'the single most serious act the juvenile court can perform . . . because once waiver of jurisdiction occurs, the child loses all protective and rehabilitative possibilities available.'" Hidalgo v. State of Texas, 983 S.W.2d 746, 755 (Tex. Crim. App. 1999). The Hidalgo Court noted that "transfer was intended to be used only in exceptional cases" and that "[t]he philosophy was that, whenever possible, children should be protected and rehabilitated rather than subjected to the harshness of the criminal system because children, all children are worth redeeming." Id.

The United States Supreme Court in Kent v. United States, 383 U.S. 541, 556, 86 S. Ct. 1045 (1966), stated "[i]t is clear beyond dispute that the waiver of jurisdiction is a 'critically important' action determining vitally important statutory rights of the juvenile." The Court characterized the "decision as to waiver of jurisdiction and transfer of the matter to the District Court [as] potentially as important to petitioner as the difference between five years imprisonment and a death sentence." Id. at 557. The very act of a transfer to a criminal district court carries with it the deprivation of the right to be detained in the protective environment of the Juvenile Justice Center pending trial, and after trial once convicted, and the rehabilitative and educational programs that would be available under the Family Code if the proceeding were in a juvenile court.

ARGUMENT

FIRST ISSUE PRESENTED

Section 54.02(h) and Moon require a juvenile court to specifically explain the facts that underly a decision to certify a juvenile. This requirement demands that a juvenile court show that the court engaged in a deliberative effort and made a reasoned decision. Here, the trial court's order failed to include any mention of J.R.'s low intellect, his mental disorders, his Autism Spectrum Disorder, his Bipolar Disorder, or his exceptional conduct when in juvenile custody resulting in placement in the Honors dorm. Did the trial court honor § 54.02(h) and Moon?

I. Standard of Review

Appellant incorporates the standard of review from the start of this brief into this issue in full.

II. Law

Section 54.02 of the Family Code conditions a juvenile court's discretion to waive jurisdiction. Tex. Fam. Code § 54.02(f).

While the juvenile court does not demand that a Court find that every factor in § 54.02(f) support transferring the case, Moon, 451 S.W.3d at 28, 47 & n.78 (citing Hidalgo, 983 S.W.2d at 754), the Court of Criminal Appeals and § 54.02 require the juvenile court to consider, at a minimum,

(1) whether the alleged offense was against person or property, with greater weight in favor of transfer given to offenses against the person; (2) the sophistication and maturity of the child; (3) the record and previous history of the child; and (4) the prospects of adequate

Hidalgo, 983 S.W.2d at 754), the Court of Criminal Appeals and § 54.02 require the juvenile court to consider, at a minimum,

> (1) whether the alleged offense was against person or property, with greater weight in favor of transfer given to offenses against the person; (2) the sophistication and maturity of the child; (3) the record and previous history of the child; and (4) the prospects of adequate protection of the public and the likelihood of the rehabilitation of the child by use of procedures, services, and facilities currently available to the juvenile court.

Id. at 38 (quoting § 54.02(f)). The juvenile court must also "make specific findings of fact regarding each of the section 54.02(f) factors." In re J.G., 495 S.W.3d 354, 367 (Tex. App.—Houston [1st Dist.] 2016, pet denied); see Moon, 451 S.W.3d at 47; 49-50.

Mitigation evidence falls within those factors and the juvenile court is required to consider this evidence. In re A.K., No. 02-19-00385-CV, 2020 Tex. App. LEXIS 2801, at *21 (Tex. App.—Fort Worth Apr. 2, 2020, no pet.). Mitigation evidence must be included in a § 54.02(h) opinion because a sufficiency review is limited to "the facts that the juvenile court expressly relied upon, as required to be explicitly set out in the juvenile transfer order under Section 54.02(h)." Moon, 451 S.W.3d at 50.

Section 54.02 establishes that a court has no discretion to waive jurisdiction except when the alleged offense is a felony and the child is at least a certain age—14 or 15, depending on the specific type of felony alleged. Tex. Fam. Code §§ 54.02(a)(1), (2). The Court must then decide whether there is probable cause to believe the child committed the alleged offense. Id. § 54.02(a)(3). But even a finding of probable cause that a juvenile committed a first-degree felony under § 54.02(a) does not justify automatic waiver because such an approach would render limiting factors derived from Kent. Hidalgo, 983 S.W.2d at 754 (explaining that the factors in Kent and the Family Code are intended "[t]o limit the juvenile court's discretion in making the transfer determination"); Tex. Fam. Code § 54.02(f). Specifically, § 54.02(f) states:

> (f) In making the determination required by Subsection (a) of this section, the court shall consider, among other matters:
>
> (1) whether the alleged offense was against person or property, with greater weight in favor of transfer given to offenses against the person;
>
> (2) sophistication and maturity of the child;
>
> (3) the record and previous history of the child; and
>
> (4) the prospects of adequate protection of the public and the likelihood of the rehabilitation of the child by use of procedure, services, and facilities currently available to the juvenile court.

Tex. Fam. Code § 54.02(f).

R.E.M., 541 S.W.2d at 846.

[The application of law to fact, the second issue, and the remainder of the argument are omitted from this transcription.]

> We find nothing in the statute which suggests that a child may be deprived of the benefits of our juvenile court system merely because the crime with which he is charged is a "serious" crime. . . . If, despite the gravity of the charged offense, the child can be successfully rehabilitated by resort to the facilities available to juvenile court, it is clear that such rehabilitation will promote the "welfare of the community" at least as effectively as criminal prosecution with no that a juvenile committed a first-degree felony under § 54.02(a) does not justify automatic waiver because such an approach would render §§ 54.02(d) and (f) superfluous. See Moon v. State, 410 S.W.3d 366, 375 (Tex. App.—Houston [1st Dist.] 2013), aff'd, 451 S.W.3d 28 (Tex. Crim. App. 2014) (citing R.E.M. v. State, 541 S.W.2d 841, 846 (Tex. Civ. App.—San Antonio 1976, writ ref'd n.r.e.)) ("We find nothing in the statute which suggests that a child may be deprived of the benefits of our juvenile court system merely because the crime with which he is charged is a 'serious' crime.'").

These factors go directly to whether the welfare of the community requires criminal proceedings or whether that welfare is better served by rehabilitation:

> We find nothing in the statute which suggests that a child may be deprived of the benefits of our juvenile court system merely because the crime with which he is charged is a "serious" crime. . . . If, despite the gravity of the charged offense, the child can be successfully rehabilitated by resort to the facilities available to juvenile court, it is clear that such rehabilitation will promote the "welfare of the community" at least as effectively as criminal prosecution with no prospects of rehabilitation, while, at the same time, it accords to the child the beneficial results which our Legislature has concluded can be achieved by protecting youthful offenders from the stigma and demoralizing effects of criminal prosecution.

These factors go directly to whether the welfare of the community requires criminal proceedings or whether that welfare is better served by rehabilitation:

> We find nothing in the statute which suggests that a child may be deprived of the benefits of our juvenile court system merely because the crime with which he is charged is a "serious" crime. . . . If, despite the gravity of the charged offense, the child can be successfully rehabilitated by resort to the facilities available to juvenile court, it is clear that such rehabilitation will promote the "welfare of the community" at least as effectively as criminal prosecution with no

12. CONCLUSION AND PRAYER

J.R. asks this Court to:

- Find that the trial court abused its discretion and failed to honor either § 54.02 or Moon and their requirement that the juvenile court explain its deliberative process in a § 54.02(h) opinion;
- Find that the evidence was factually insufficient to support the findings that J.R. was sufficiently mature and sophisticated to certify and that the trial court abused its discretion in certifying J.R.;
- Vacate the certification order; and,
- Any and all other relief to which Appellant might be entitled.

Respectfully submitted,
Respectfully Submitted,

Scott H. Palmer, P.C.
Scott H. Palmer, P.C.

/s/ Niles Illich
/s/ Niles Illich
Niles Illich
Niles Illich
State Bar No. 24069969

/s/ Rebekah Perlstein
/s/ Rebekah Perlstein
Rebekah Perlstein
Rebekah Perlstein
State Bar No. 24073080
Scott H. Palmer, P.C.
15455 Dallas Parkway, Suite 540
15455 Dallas Parkway, Suite 540
Addison, Texas 75001
Addison, Texas 75001
Direct: (972) 204-5452
Direct: (972) 204-5452
Facsimile: (972) 922-9900
Facsimile: (972) 922-9900
Email: Niles@scottpalmerlaw.com
Email: Niles@scottpalmerlaw.com
Counsel for Appellant

CERTIFICATE OF COMPLIANCE

This is to certify that this brief complies with Rule 9.4 of the Texas Rules of Appellate Procedure because it is computer generated and includes 14,402 words as counted by the word count feature included with Microsoft Word. Appellant has not used the exception in Rule 9.4(i)(1). This brief also complies with the typeface requirements because it has been prepared in a proportionally-spaced typeface using Microsoft Word in 14-point Times New Roman font for the text and 12-point Times New Roman font for the footnotes.

/s/ Niles Illich
Niles Illich

CERTIFICATE OF SERVICE

This is to certify that on December 9, 2020 that a true and correct copy of this brief was served on lead counsel for all parties in accord with Rule 9.5 of the Texas Rules of Appellate Procedure. Service was accomplished through an electronic commercial delivery service and electronic mail as follows:

Jennifer Balido
DCDAappeals@dallascounty.org

/s/ Niles Illich
Niles Illich