33. The precise amount paid to Defendants, Gershfeld Law, Yana Gershfeld and Debt

Pay, is uncertain. Further, the efforts made by these Defendants on behalf of Griffin are unknown.

34. However, what is known about all the Defendants is that Griffin believed their debt management program was a viable solution to address his debts.

35. Griffin trusted the Defendants to help him with his debts. The Defendants violated this trust.

36. Upon information and belief, the Defendants received over $20,000.00 from an 81 year old man on social security.

37. Despite Griffin's payments to the Defendants, they failed to perform the services promised.

38. Griffin was forced into bankruptcy as a result of the Defendants.

39. The Defendants intentionally made Griffin believe the debt management programs were a feasible solution to his problem. The Defendants caused Griffin to lose valuable resources, such as the loss of the use of funds and time. The amount of Griffin's debt increased during his "enrollment into the programs". The Defendants caused Griffin to suffer from stress, worry, embarrassment and emotional distress.

40. As a result, Griffin filed for chapter 7 bankruptcy on February 21, 2018.

41. Griffin listed $73,922.09 of unsecured debt.

Facts specific to the Defendants

42. Global and Debt Pay established and maintained a SPA for Griffin. The SPA is essential to their debt management program. The SPA secured payments from Griffin to fund the debt management program.

43. Structurally, SPA's are sub-accounts managed by Global and Debt Pay, which reflect the beneficial interest of the Griffin in the debt management programs.

44. Global and Debt Pay will claim they operate independently from the DMSPs, or as referred to in this case, "law firms". However, Global and Debt Pay are partners with these "law firms" in a debt management scheme.[3] Global and Debt Pay exercised control over Griffin's funds and acted as an intermediary between Griffin and his creditors.

45. Global has worked with over 800 DMSPs to provide debt management services to more than 236,000 consumers nationally. Consumer Financial Protection Bureau v. Global Client Solutions, LLC et al, 2:14-cv-663 (C.D. of CA)[4] Upon information and belief, Debt Pay also operates nationwide.

46. Global and Debt Pay have created and maintained SPA's for "law firms" like Moore Legal Center, P.C., Robert Gitmeid and Associates, PLLC, U.S. Legal Group, P.C., Legal Helpers Debt Resolution, LLC, and Consumer Capital Advocates, LLC., John Windsor, Legal Helpers Debt Resolution, LLC, Timberline Financial, LLC, Gershfeld Law, etc.

47. In exchange for "services" under the debt management programs, Griffin made payments each month to Global and Debt Pay.

48. The monthly payments made by Griffin covered three things: (i) the fee for the "law firms"; (ii) the fee for account-maintenance services by Global and Debt Pay and (iii) Griffin's savings, which are supposed to be set aside for future settlements of his debts, as negotiated by the "law firms".

49. Global and Debt Pay financially benefit from the creation of the SPA as they charged Griffin fees and charges, beyond those already charged by the "law firms". Those fees are:

Fee	Amount
Account Setup (one-time tee)	$9.00
Monthly Service Charge	$9.85
Incoming Wire Transfer	$10.00
Outgoing Wire Transfer	$15.00
2nd Day Delivery	$10.00
Overnight Delivery	$20.00
Phone Payment	$1.50
Stop Payment Order	$17.50

50. The SPA's also benefit the "law firms" like Robert Gitmeid and Associates and Gershfeld Law.

[3]Other known Mississippi consumers are: Felicia Serpas (15-51547-KMS); Jean Tero; Jennifer Breland; Antoinette K. Francis-Whearry (16-51206-KMS); Peggy Blackmon, Justin Wayne Sharp (17-03188-ee)

[4]Complaint ¶14

51. First, the SPA's secure monthly payments from consumers, like Griffin, for purposes of paying excessive upfront debt management fees.

52. Second, the SPA's serve as an artifice for evading the Mississippi Debt Management Services Act governing debt management fees through the pretense that the DMSPs did not receive the consumers' debt management payments.

53. Global and Debt Pay also attempt to avoid regulation by claiming they do not control the consumer's funds. To do so, Global and Debt Pay insert convenient language into their contracts with consumers, like Griffin, but private contractual arrangements with consumers cannot alter the application of remedial statutory law.[5]

54. At the most basic level, the Defendants' debt management program simply does not work. The Defendants know the failure rate of is 80% to 90%.[6] However, despite their failure rate, the Defendants continue to market their services and promote the concept of debt management to vulnerable Mississippians as a viable debt resolution option.

55. In addition, the predatory nature of the Defendants' fees are such that consumers' monthly payments are consumed by the costs of the debt management programs during the first several months of the program, and are substantially consumed by such fees throughout the remainder of their participation in the program.

56. Faced with the glaring and pervasive predatory fee practices of the for profit debt management industry, many states, including Mississippi, adopted statutes prohibiting predatory fees and other abusive debt management practices.[7]

57. The Defendants' predatory business scheme to financially enrich themselves and con already indebted Mississippians, like Griffin, violates Mississippi law as well as bankruptcy law.

58. With full knowledge of their deceptive and abusive business practices, the
